

Sable Island National Park Reserve Visitor Registration Form

All visitors are required to register in advance of their trip to Sable Island National Park Reserve. The general visitor season on Sable Island is June to the end of October. As a visitor to Sable Island, you must be self-reliant and responsible for your own safety. You should be prepared for weather delays accessing or departing the island. Visitors are responsible to make their own transportation arrangements to and from Sable Island, and most visits are day trips. Visitors either arrive by air charter or come ashore from private vessels that are anchored offshore.

The following information is required regarding your proposed trip. Once received, Parks Canada will review and approve visits in accordance with Parks Canada Agency (PCA) policies and regulations. Once a decision has been made by PCA, we will then confirm your trip registration and send an approval letter for your scheduled visit. Please consult the Sable Island National Park Reserve Park Visitor Guide or Website (www.pc.gc.ca/sable) for visitor information, including how to access the island, details of operational services, essential safety information, and fees. Parks Canada considers all journalists, contractors, government employees, and independent travellers to be visitors.
